TRAIL HOUSE

Sited along a single topographic line, this house is conceived as a series of interlocking pavilions.

Beneath a wooden roof canopy, the internal plan is organized around dispersed storage cores. Each storage core separates and connects the spaces: during the day, every space is living space, while at night every space becomes a quiet space.

PROJECT
Residential structure
SIZE
700 m² (7,535 ft²)
LOCATION
Westchester, NY
KEY PERSON
Andrew Heid
TEAM
Yan Chen, Naifei Liu, Gosia Pawlowska, Trendelina Salihu, Gaby San Roman Bustinza, Jie Xie

小路宅
坐落在一条地形线上，这座房子的构想是一系列相互交叠的亭子。

在木屋顶棚下，内部空间围绕分散的存储核心构成。每个存储核心分隔和连接空间：白天，每个空间都是生活空间，而在晚上每个空间成为安静的房间。